System Overview

Estonia has a centralised curriculum system with school pedagogical autonomy. Health education is delivered primarily through Inimeseõpetus (Human Studies / Personal, Social and Health Education) — a mandatory subject covering personal development, social skills, health, and sexuality across all grades. Estonia is internationally recognised for its digital infrastructure in education and its comprehensive sexuality education programme. The Tervise Arengu Instituut (TAI) (National Institute for Health Development) is the key health data and resources organisation. Estonia participates actively in the international HBSC study.
