System Overview

Finland has one of Europe's most developed health education systems. Terveystieto (Health Education) is a mandatory standalone subject in the peruskoulu (basic school, grades 7–9, ages 13–16) and a mandatory/optional subject in the lukio (upper secondary, TE1 mandatory, TE2–TE3 optional). Finland introduced Terveystieto as a standalone subject already in 2001 — one of the earliest in Europe. The Finnish National Core Curriculum (NCC) defines the objectives and content for all subjects. The Finnish Institute for Health and Welfare (THL) provides the key health data. Finland is also notable for its school health nurse (kouluterveydenhoitaja) model with nurses present in all schools.
