System Overview

Romania has a centralised education system managed by the Ministerul Educației. Educație pentru sănătate (Health Education) is a mandatory standalone subject in Romanian schools — one of the few countries in Central-Eastern Europe with a dedicated health education subject. However, implementation quality varies significantly. The new Legea educației naționale nr. 198/2023 introduced significant reforms to the curriculum framework. Health education is also delivered through Biologie and Consiliere și orientare (Guidance and Counselling). Romania has been a site of significant public debate about sex education content, with campaigns both for and against comprehensive sexuality education. The INSP (National Institute of Public Health) is the key health data organisation.
