System Overview

Sweden has a centralised but school-autonomous education system managed by Skolverket (Swedish National Agency for Education). Health education is integrated across subjects, primarily through Idrott och hälsa (Physical Education and Health — mandatory at all levels) and through the cross-curricular theme "Sexualitet, samtycke och relationer" (Sexuality, consent and relationships), which is explicitly addressed in all relevant subjects since the Lgr22 curriculum reform. The Elevhälsa (student health team) model — including school counsellors, nurses, psychologists, and social workers — is a strong institutional feature. Sweden is a global reference point for progressive, rights-based sexuality and health education.
